JOINT-FREE PROCESSING

A SIBU DESIGN technical innovation

SIBU | DESIGN
we decorate.

ANTIGRAV is an innovative, lightweight material that comes from the automotive industry and which, in combination with decorative SIBU Design surfaces, can be used as wall panelling.

Moreover, processing is joint-free and ANTIGRAV is extremely light and compact, which means that it can be cut and further processed using standard tools.

INNOVATIVE FURTHER PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

- › ANTIGRAV can be bonded edge to edge and therefore does not require expansion joints. As a result, revolutionary design options can be implemented on large surface areas
- › Irrespective of whether leather, wood or stone patterning is involved (please see the Antigrav Collection), the ANTIGRAV products are extremely light, but nonetheless dimensionally stable
- › ANTIGRAV is easy to handle and offers flexible applications
- › ANTIGRAV is simple to work with owing to its dimensional stability
- › Professional processing of the material is straightforward and takes place on the patterned side
- › Readjustment on any surface is no problem when bonding with SIBU Silicon is employed
